STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On May 23, 2008 a ten count superceding indictment was returned charging a Conspiracy to Engage in Sex Trafficking of Children, Conspiracy to Coerce and Entice Juveniles into Prostitution, and eight substantive counts of Recruiting and Enticing Juveniles into Prostitution, all in violation of Title 18 U.S.C. §§ 371, 1591, and 2422. The superceding indictment charges Mr. Black in both conspiracy counts and four of

1 the substantive charges. Mr. Black was arrested on May 29, 2008 in the Western
2 District of Texas. He was removed to this District and arraigned at his first appearance
3 in Court on June 27, 2008. The undersigned counsel first appeared on Mr. Black's
4 behalf at a detention hearing on July 2, 2008. Mr. Black has pled not guilty to all
5 counts in which he is named. Defendant filed his motion for discovery on July 9, 2008. As of the 6 date of filing this motion to continue, no discovery has been received by counsel of record.

7 DEFENDANT'S REQUEST

8 _____ The Sixth Amendment reference to the assistance of counsel has been interpreted by the 9 courts to mean effective assistance of counsel. Cooper v. Fitzharris, 586 F. 2d 1325 (9th Cir.
10 1978) cert. den., 440 U.S. 974. Mere physical presence of an attorney does not fulfill the Sixth
11 Amendment entitlement of effective assistance of counsel. Javor v. United States, 724 F.2d 831
12 (9th Cir. 1984).

13 The Sixth Amendment right to counsel implies much more than a minimum level of 14 professional competence. Undivided loyalty and fidelity of commitment are the guiding 15 principles in this important area of Sixth Amendment jurisprudence. United States v. Alvarez, 16 580 F.2d 1251 (5th Cir. 1978).

17 An insistence upon expeditiousness in the face of a justifiable request for delay violates 18 the right of the effective assistance of counsel. Morris v. Slappy, 461 U.S. 1 (1983). Ungar v.
19 Sarafite, 376 U.S. 575, 589 (1964). An insistence upon expeditiousness in the face of a 20 justifiable request for delay can render the right to defend with counsel an empty formality.
21 Chandler v. Fretag, 348 U.S. 3 (1954). There are no mechanical tests for deciding when a denial
22 of a continuance is so arbitrary as to violate due process. The answer must be found in the 23 circumstances present in every case, particularly in the reasons presented to the trial judge at the 24 time the request is denied. Nilva v. United States, 352 U.S. 385 (1957); Torres v. United States,
25 270 F.2d 252 (9th Cir., 1959). The court may grant a motion for continuance "for good cause,"
26 upon a party's motion. Rule 45, Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. See also, Gavino v.

1 MacMahon, 499 F.2d 1191 (C.A.2d, 1974) (denial of Defendant's request for a reasonable time
2 to prepare for trial constituted an abuse of discretion).

3 Defendant requests a continuance of at least one month to allow his counsel to have 4 sufficient time to receive and meaningfully review all discovery in this case, as well as sufficient
5 time to adequately research and brief any pretrial motions appropriate in the above-styled case.
6 As Defendant's counsel have not received any discovery to date, counsel will not have adequate
7 time, should they receive complete discovery between now and Monday, to prepare and brief any
8 evidentiary and/or constitutional issues raised by the discovery to meet this court's Monday, July 9 14th pretrial motion filing deadline.

10 CONCLUSION

11 For the foregoing reasons, and based upon the argument of counsel, Defendant
12 Christopher Black respectfully requests that this court grant him an extension for time of at least
13 four weeks to his deadline in which to file pretrial motions, to August 11, 2008, and to continue
14 the evidentiary hearing presently scheduled for July 28, 2008 to August 25, 2008, or to alternate 15 later dates convenient to this court's schedule.
